The Executive Committee after due deliberation on the issue of recognizing online Internship training of Foreign Medical Graduates, observed that Internship training is undertaken with an objective approach using situation test in knowledge, skill and attitude during and at the end of internship training, therefore online Internship in full or in part does not meet this requirement, hence such individuals have to repeat the Internship training undergone online, in any recognized college/hospital recognized for such purposes by the Medical Council of India, for them to be considered eligible for seeking registration with Delhi Medical Council.

It is further observed that such individuals have to first seek provisional registration with Delhi Medical Council, for purposes of competing their internship training, which shall be considered based on the screening test, eligibility certificate and medical qualifications. Subsequent to the completion of valid Internship these individuals can be considered for permanent registration subject to verification of all the necessary documents from the concerned authorities.
